

Holiday fun for the family

Take advantage of the winter break to participate in family activities that will not only engage your child but help sharpen their skills along the way.

Bake Cookies: Have fun making a tasty treat while your children practice measuring the ingredients.

Letters to Santa: Your child can practice sounding out words while writing their Christmas wish list.

Game Night: Your child has the opportunity to build reading and math skills while playing board games.

Puzzle Time: Improve spatial awareness, fine motor skills, shape recognition and more as you communicate with each other to build your scene.

Movie Night: Build a family tradition of watching your favorite movie each year.

Make Ornaments: Get creative and design a new ornament. It will be fun to look back each year when you decorate your tree.

Read a Book: Spend time listening to your child read or let them snuggle up while you read to them.

“Children are not a distraction from more important work.

They are the most important work!” — C.S. Lewis
